JACKSONVILLE, ILLINOIS, THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 16, 1904.

HUNDREDS OF LIVES LOST BY THE BURNING OF AN EXCURSION STEAMER.

Six Hundred Persons, Mostly Women and Children, Meet Death Through Burning or Drowning—Victims Members of Lutheran Sunday School on way to Long Island Resort.

New York, June 15.—The three decked excursion steamer General Slocum, of the Knickerbocker Steamboat company, buried to the water's edge off North Brother Island, East river, at the entrance to Long Island sound to day, resulting in the death through burning or drowning of at least 600 persons, mostly women and children. Four hundred and forty-seven bodies had been recovered to night and divers were at work taking bodies from the hold of the steamer. The remains of many who leaped into the river have not yet been found and it will be many hours before the list of dead is anywhere near complete.

The General Slocum, with the annual Sunday school excursion of St. Mark's German Lutheran church of this city on board, was proceeding up the river to one of the many resorts of Long Island sound. When near One Hundred and twenty-fifth street persons on shore saw smoke and flames spring from the upper part of the crowded steamer. A panic ensued on the boat almost instantly. The crowds on the forward deck began to spring overboard or crowd to the after part of the boat. Screams of terrified passengers could be heard on shore and hundreds of small boats immediately put off to the rescue.

Owing to rocks on either side of the channel at this point it had been impossible to beach the vessel. The captain stuck to his post at the wheel and headed the vessel straight up the river for North Brother Island, where she was put aground in shallow water. Several hundred feet of open water still lay between the burning steamer and the shore, and many persons perished either in the water or on the burning vessel after she had been beached.

It is estimated the steamer carried more than 2,000 persons. She was the largest excursion steamer in these waters and could carry 4,000 passengers.

IN GOOD CONDITION.
At the United States steamboat inspection bureau it was said the Slocum was inspected May 5 and was reported to be in thoroughly good condition and ready for the excursion season. Aboard the steamer was all the life saving apparatus required by law of steamers of her capacity. The Slocum's licensed captain is Capt. W. H. Vanschaick, one of the oldest excursion captains in New York harbor waters.

MANY WILL DIE.
Many of those picked up alive in the river will die in hospitals. Most of them were frightfully burned, having delayed leaping from the boat until their clothing caught fire. Every man on board who could swim went overboard loaded down with children. Many of these heroes lost their lives because, burdened as they were, they could make no headway against the overpowering swirl of the tide.

CAN ONLY ESTIMATE.
It is impossible to more than estimate the loss of life, but it is believed anywhere from three hundred to five hundred persons perished in the flames or were drowned. As fast as bodies were recovered they were taken to convenient places and carefully numbered for later identification.

The pastor of St. Mark's church, Rev. George C. F. Haas, was saved, but his wife, Gertrude, and daughter, Anna, are dead. Haas says he understands the fire started from fat boiling over in the kitchen in the fore part of the vessel.

HOSPITALS CROWDED.
At 1 o'clock this afternoon several hospitals were compelled turn away injured, their accommodations being already crowded. Most of the rescued are badly burned and many will die.

DOCTORS BUSY.
Ambulance Surgeon Krauskopf said he professionally treated 125 persons, and doctors near him were as busily engaged as he. He said one of the paddle wheels of the Slocum was choked with the burned bodies of those who perished.

Edward Weaver and Edward Vanwert, pilots of the boat, were arrested along with the captain.

WILD DISORDER.
Wild disorder increased as frantic mothers sought their children, who had been at play about the decks. The first weep of the flames cut off escape from the hurricane deck, where a great many women and children were crowded together, and soon burned away the light wooden uprights, which came down with a crash on those below. It is thought most of those on the hurricane deck were burned.

As the fire increased the struggle to gain a point of vantage at the stern became frightful. Women and children crowded against the after rail until it gave way and hundreds were pushed off into the river. After this there was a steady stream of persons who jumped or were thrown into the water.

WORK OF RESCUE.
Tugs and other vessels came to the rescue. Those who manned the boats rescued all they could reach, but many persons struggled and sank before help could reach them. In the wake of the Slocum as she hurried upstream was a line of black spots, marking the heads and bodies of those who had sought to escape the roaring furnace on the ship by throwing themselves overboard. A few of those saved by small boats had on life preservers. At no time during the progress of the fire was there any opportunity to either lower life boats or get life preservers out from under the seats. This perhaps gives an idea of the rapidity with which the flames swept the decks. Through all the wild panic, during all that inferno, with fire and smoke surrounding them, the officers and men of the doomed boat remained at their posts, but they were powerless to avert the catastrophe. The Slocum got within fifty feet of North Brother Island, when she stopped in shallow water. It was just before she was beached that the hurricane deck fell with its load of women and children, adding to the panic and horror of those on the deck below.

Very soon the after parts of the second and third decks also caved in. But before this happened the tug Walter Tracey had come alongside the burning steamer and had been lashed to it. Many of the passengers were taken off by the crew of the Tracey, which remained alongside until the tug's pilot boat took fire.

A SAD SCENE.
The scene on the island was a pitiful one. Body after body was washed ashore or brought in by boats and added to the long row on the beach. Fifty-three persons died there while doctors from hospitals on the island were attending them. For hours bodies of burned and drowned drifted ashore. Some came ashore still alive. Many of those died, while others will recover.

DEAD BODIES.
Rows of bodies stretched along the beach and hysterical women and frantic men went along looking at one after another searching for children and friends. Women with disfigured faces, their clothing partially stripped from them, were carried to an improvised emergency hospital, crying for children who had been torn from them in the mad rush when the boat took fire.

MEANWHILE the Slocum burned to the water's edge and sank. It is estimated there are nearly 100 charred bodies on her decks. Just after the steamer sank the water near by was black with bodies. The tug tidally picked up eighty-eight charred corpses in Hunt's Cove, off Riker's Island, and carried them into the sound. None of these, it is thought, can ever be identified.

DECK HAND'S EXPERIENCE.
Peter J. Tremble, a deck hand, tells his experience, says as soon as the fire started he and an engineer stretched a hose, but could get no water. The fire drove them away, and he distributed a number of life preservers among the women and children. He jumped overboard with two children, but the current took them away from him. He then climbed up in the paddle box. "The water beat me," says Tremble, "was a perfect hell. Men and women were clawing at my legs as I climbed and my trousers were torn away in my efforts to escape them." He was subsequently rescued by a row boat.

Fred Hoffman, a fireman, and one of the excursionists, was brought ashore, unmoved and hysterical. At first all that could be got from him was that he had lost his mother and sister-in-law, his brother's two children and a young woman with him. After telling of the fire and panic, he said the tugs were trying to put out the fire and he saw no attempt to take off the people.

It is alleged that the life preservers were too securely fastened to their holders to be available and stories are told of frantic efforts made by strong men to cut them loose. But even if they could have been torn down they were too high up for children to reach. It is also alleged that no attempt was made to get out the fire apparatus at the first cry of "Fire," though Captain Van Schick says that he immediately rang bells for getting out the apparatus. According to several statements no attempt was made to lower boats or life rafts. The race to North Brother Island was horribly dramatic. It was made while the flames, which had been fanned into a fury by the strong head wind, were consuming hundreds of persons, old and young. The scene was one of frightful panic, with women and children jumping overboard and being dashed by the channel whirlpools against the vessel's sides. Little children, holding each other by the hand, jumped together and were afterward found clasped in each others arms. It is alleged that men fought with women to escape, resulting in the trampling underfoot of scores of children. Not the least dramatic incidents of the catastrophe were the efforts of people on tugs and other boats to rescue those who had jumped overboard from the burning vessel. Men crowded to the rails of the tugs and caught up drowning persons as they were borne by the current. There were many thrilling rescues by this means. Captain Van Schick and his two pilots, Edward Van Wert and E. M. Weaver, have been arrested.

What looked like a big hatchway, on which were five charred bodies, was found floating in the cove at Hunt's Point and towed alongside the tug Fidelity. The wood was badly charred and the bodies seemed to stick to it. The bodies could not be released without further mutilating them and in order not to do this the hatchway, with the bodies on it, was hoisted to the deck of the Fidelity.

AT THE MORGUE.
To night a surging crowd is held back by police lines formed about the city morgue at the foot of East Twenty-Sixth street, where the bodies were placed. When finally the morgue authorities allowed the crowd to enter a scene ensued which was harrowing in the extreme. In some cases first identifications were found to have been erroneous, men laying claim to bodies they afterward discovered were not those of their relatives. At the entrance to the pier at the foot of East Twenty-Sixth street the crowd to night tried to push past the police and a riot resulted. At the height of the trouble a man who had learned that his wife was among the charred dead tried to stab himself.

The body of Mrs. Anna Haas, wife of the pastor of St. Mark's church, was identified at the morgue. Dr. Haas is among the rescued. He himself, with his wife and daughter, got outside the rail of the Slocum before the steamer was beached. He cannot say whether they jumped or fell or were pushed into the water. He sank and when he arose he found scores about him fighting for life. He failed to find his wife and daughter. Men on one of the tugs picked him up. Of the scores he saw about him when he rose, one by one sank.

SIGNALLED TO COME ASHORE.
Charles T. Storms, owner of a lumber yard at One Hundred and Thirtieth Fourth street, says he signalled the Slocum to come ashore. He turned in an alarm of fire and almost immediately engines were at the foot of One Hundred and Twenty-Second street. "If the Slocum had turned in then, not a life would have been lost," he says.

Among the first of the physicians to reach North Brother Island was Dr. Henry Krauskopf, house surgeon of Harlem hospital. "It was the most dreadful spectacle I ever saw," he said. "Lying about in various postures were hundreds, it seemed, of women and a few children. All seemed to be appealing for help at one time. Most touching appeals came from mothers for their children. There were children all about us lying dead on the grass."

BODIES RECOVERED.
New York, June 16.—At 1 o'clock this morning (Thursday), according to a statement issued by Coroner O'Gorman, 483 bodies have been recovered from the destroyed vessel, burned to death or drowned and found on the shores to which they had been washed or picked up in the river, to which they had jumped or fallen from the burning vessel. Tugs are arriving hourly with bodies from North Brother Island.

SAVED EIGHT LIVES.
John Olson and Gunter Anderson, of the tugboat D. S. Arnott, saved six women and two children and afterwards rescued fifteen dead bodies. Miss Martha Weik says that while she was struggling in the water a boat pulled up alongside of her and she was stripped of her rings, earrings and brooch, and then pushed back in the water. She was later rescued in an unconscious condition by another boat and taken to the island.

After questioning all the witnesses, including Captain Van Schick and five of the crew, Coroner Berry to night made a statement, in which he expresses the opinion that the fire on the Slocum started in the storage room, in which was stored oils, paints and other damage of a highly inflammable nature. He does not know that the ship's owners are guilty of neglect, but before the owners can be released from responsibility it must be established that the fire started from spontaneous combustion.

TO HEAR CONTESTS

Republican National Committee in Session in Chicago.

Chicago, June 15.—Preliminary to a more extended meeting to be held, some of which may be brought before the national Republican convention Tuesday, the national committee met this afternoon. Resolutions of respect to the memory of the late Chairman Hanman and Senator Quay were adopted.

After deciding that the contests on delegates at large and district delegates from various states shall be held in executive session, each side to be given thirty minutes for the presentation of arguments, the committee adjourned until to-morrow morning. Contests will be considered in alphabetical order.

In the matter of the contested delegations interest centered largely in the fight in Wisconsin. Supporters of Governor La Follette arrived to day and were prepared to present their side of the controversy. Those opposed to the governor, among whom are Senators Spooner and Quarles and Representative Joseph Babcock, chairman of the Republican congressional committee, were also here to day. The contest, if it is heard by the committee at all, may not be taken up until Friday, but some members are understood to have concluded to exclude both delegates and let the courts determine the right of the factions. Scores of delegates to the convention arrived during the day and night.

DEMANDS TOO MUCH

Release of Perdicaris and Varley Delayed by Bandits' Unreasonable Requests.

Washington, June 15.—Consul Gummer advises the state department a serious hitch has occurred in negotiations for the release of Perdicaris and Varley. Bandits has enlarged his original demands and now insists upon absolute control of four Moorish provinces and demands that three nations, including the United States, guarantee absolute performance of the Sultan's promise. The demands are regarded as absolutely impossible of compliance here.

KEOKUK GIRL ARRESTED.
New York, June 15.—Ada Morgan, who claims Keokuk, Iowa, as her home, was arrested here charged with imposing upon charitable persons with a tale of desertion and starvation. She is said to have secured $12,000 in the past two years in that way.

KILLED IN QUARREL.
Richmond, Mo., June 15.—Joseph Farr shot and killed his son-in-law, Charles Reburn, with a shotgun near Reburn's house, then surrendered to the sheriff. The killing was the outcome of a divorce petition filed by Mrs. Reburn. Reburn had threatened to kill his wife and baby and was attacking the woman when Farr interfered and shot him.

AN INJUNCTION

State Officials Restrained From Paying Out Money to Board of Prison Industries.

Springfield, Ill., June 15.—Judge Humphrey, of the United States circuit court, to night granted a temporary injunction restraining the state treasurer and auditor of public accounts from paying out $100,000 to the board of prison industries for the employment of convicts for the next year under the provisions of the bill prohibiting convict labor, passed by the legislature last May, and which goes into effect July 1, next. The writ was applied for ostensibly on behalf of Whiting G. Press, a non-resident taxpayer of Illinois, residing in California, but it is said to be really on behalf of the contractors at the penitentiaries who do not want to be ousted. A printing plant is to be operated at the state reformatory at Pontiac, and factories for the manufacture of shoes at Chester, and wicker chairs at Joliet, all for the benefit of state institutions, and not to be thrown on the open market.

WOMEN'S CONGRESS.
Berlin, June 15.—The International Women's congress devoted the day to regular business. Addresses were made by a number of prominent delegates.

DROPPED DEAD.
Mantoville, Minn., June 15.—Judge E. C. Severance, aged 74, a prominent lawyer and pioneer of Minnesota, dropped dead to day.

IN HONOR OF AMERICANS.

Lisbon, June 15.—There was an athletic tournament in the royal grounds here yesterday in honor of the American fleet. King Carlos attended and won a tennis match. He shot at pigeons and did remarkable shooting with a pistol. Four men from the flagship Kearsarge and the Alabama had boxing contests at the king's request.

RUSSIANS OVERWHELMED ARE PUT TO FLIGHT BY JAPANESE

Loss a Thousand Men and Leave
All Their Guns on the Field—
Remains of a Naval Engagement.

London, June 15.—A dispatch to the Express from Tokyo June 15, says news has been received there, but not yet officially published, of a great Japanese victory near Fu Chou, seventy miles north of Port Arthur. The Russians, it is added, were overwhelmed and lost a thousand men, left all their guns on the field and retreated in disorder.

The Chronicle's correspondent at Tokyo cables the same news, adding the Russians to the number of 7,000 are now in full flight toward Tschiao and Kar Chow.

NAVAL ENGAGEMENT.

Tokio, June 15.—A Central News Tokyo dispatch, filed this afternoon, says a naval engagement is now in progress off Tschiao Island in the Korean straits, between three Russian cruisers which escaped from Vladivostok, and a number of Japanese ships. The dispatch adds the Vladivostok squadron was first reported June 14 from Old Island, off Kiofo, Japan, Sea of Japan. Later in the day commanding was heard northwest of Nagato, straits of Korea. The captain of a Japanese merchant ship, reports this morning that his ship was fired upon by a Russian warship.

Heavy cannonading was heard early this morning in the neighborhood of Old Island, and dispatches from Tokyo and Nagasaki this morning state a naval engagement is in progress off Old Island.

RUMORS OF FIGHTING.

New Chungking, June 14 (delayed).—There are persistent rumors here of severe fighting south of Kai Chou, which it is impossible to confirm. A report upon the very highest authority from Mukden says over 20,000 Russian troops are there, with 40,000 additional men camped at Liao Yang. A private telegram received here by a German resident late this afternoon from Chao Foo, said the Japanese had suffered a severe defeat at Port Arthur. Russians in town are celebrating the news to night.

WAR REPORTS.

Tokio, June 15.—The entrance of the harbor at Port Arthur having been cleared of obstructions, is now open for passage of ships in and out. Yesterday the Russian protected cruiser Novik steamed out to sea and engaged with vessels of the Japanese blockading fleet.

Washington, June 15.—The Japanese legation to day received a cablegram from Tokyo stating the Russian cruiser Novik emerged from Port Arthur yesterday and engaged a number of Japanese torpedo boat destroyers. The commander of the destroyers made an effort to secure a chase for the Novik, but after pursuing the boats for a short distance the cruiser returned safely to port.

Tokio, June 15.—It is reported the Japanese cruiser Nitaka engaged the Russian Vladivostok squadron off Tsu Island. The report lacks confirmation. Japanese transports Ugo and Fuyo, homeward bound, met Russian vessels near Old Island. The Russians pursued them and fired sixteen shots, but the transports escaped and reached Katsunoto.

Three Japanese transports, outward bound from Shimonoseki, met Russian warships this morning outside of the straits of Korea. The Russians fired eighteen shots at the Japanese ships. One transport escaped, but the fate of the other two is not known. It is believed at Sasebo that a naval engagement is imminent.

London, June 15.—The Japanese legation has been advised from Tokyo that Japanese the night of June 13 laid a number of mines in the vicinity of Port Arthur. Sharp firing was exchanged June 14 between a Japanese torpedo boat and the Novik and ten destroyers, which came out of Port Arthur. The Japanese retreated for the purpose of decoying the enemy to sea, but the Russians withdrew. The fact that the Novik came out of Port Arthur makes it certain Russians have blasted a channel through the merchantmen sunk by the Japanese at the entrance to the harbor.

London, June 15.—The correspondent of the Central News at Liao Yang telegraphed the fight at anfang was renewed to day and is still proceeding. No details are obtainable, but there are persistent rumors the Russians were partly successful, destroying three squadrons of cavalry and making prisoners of sixty men. Russian casualties in the fighting yesterday were 308 killed or wounded.

St. Petersburg, June 15, 3:30 p. m.—No information is obtainable here regarding a reported engagement between the Russian Vladivostok squadron and Japanese squadron in the Korean straits. It is quite likely a naval fight has occurred, as it is definitely announced Vice Admiral Skrydloff left Vladivostok with the armored cruisers Gromobor, Rusarik and some torpedo craft.

Tokio, June 15, 9 a. m. Altho it is rumored that the Japanese are overtaken and engaged the Vladivostok squadron off Old Island in the straits of Korea, it is extremely improbable that there has been an engagement. One of the Japanese scouting vessels is said to have got in touch with the Russian squadron and to have followed it. It probably lost the Russians when night came on. The indications are the Russian squadron is moving eastward. This increases the chances for an open sea engagement. The Japanese are pursuing, keenly eager for a fight.

Issued in Case of Chas. H. Moyer by United States Judge Thayer.

The writ is directed to Governor Peabody, Adj. General Fell and other Colorado officials, who have been cited to appear and show cause why Moyer is restrained from his liberty. The writ was granted upon application of the federation's attorneys, who came from Denver to day.

GIRL LEAPS FROM BOAT.

Kinston, Ont., June 15.—During a drunken orgy on the passenger steamer America while returning from Clayton, Gertrude Segobis, a young woman of Carthage, N. Y., became frightened at the disorder and jumped from the upper deck and was drowned, three miles below this city. The women passengers were panic stricken as a result of the free for all fighting on the boat and a number of arrests were made when the vessel arrived here.

Denver, June 15.—In answer to a telegram from Secretary Easley, of the National Civic Federation, asking the governor to discriminate between American Federation socialistic organizations, Governor Peabody said Colorado was not fighting the American Federation nor its affiliated organizations; that the Western Federation officially endorsed the principles of socialism, "and these principles, as well as coercion, intimidation, dynamiting and assassinating are inimical to the best interests of the commonwealth."

GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION

Denver, June 15.—Governor Peabody issued a proclamation which took effect to night ending martial law in San Miguel county, releasing troops from duty and turning over to the civil authorities President Moyer of the Western Federation, now a prisoner in the bull pen at Telluride. Peabody says orders were issued before he heard of the action of Judge Thayer at St. Louis.

The point is now raised whether the governor by his action in the Moyer case places him in contempt of Judge Thayer's order. Both the governor and attorney general to night declared the order in the Moyer and martial law matter was decided early in the day.

Springfield, June 15.—The Illinois Printing Crafts' union at the annual convention to day, appointed a committee to wait upon Governor Yates and request him to protest on behalf of the state and ask that the federal authorities should take measures to check the troubles in Colorado and protect the miners. VETERANS OF '47 TO MEET

Mexican and American Soldiers of That War Plan Reunion.

The extent to which all past differences between the United States and Mexico have been effaced, giving place to the most cordial and fraternal sentiments, is evinced by the invitation that has been received from the American Association of Veterans of the Mexican War of 1847, which terminated in the loss to Mexico of a large portion of her territory as it then existed.

James C. Carlton of the National Association of the Mexican War, says the Mexican Herald, addressed a letter dated Bedford, Ind., Feb. 16, last, to President Diaz, his cabinet ministers and to all surviving Mexican veterans of the war of 1846-48 and their families to attend a meeting of the American veterans of that war, which will be held in the grounds of the exposition at St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 16 next, a day which is also the anniversary of Mexico's declaration of independence.

Mr. Carlton says that in case the invitation is accepted, a program of the exercises to be observed at the meeting will be forwarded through the Mexican commissioner at St. Louis, Albino R. Nuncio. Mr. Carlton also asks that the invitation be answered through General Powell Clayton, United States ambassador in Mexico, through whose instrumentality it was forwarded. He also expressed the hope that the invitation will be received in the same friendly spirit in which it was sent.

General Diaz has sent the following answer:

"Mexico, April 26, 1904.—Mr. James C. Carlton, President of the Association of the Mexican War, Bedford, Ind. Dear Sir:—I answer your esteemed letter of Feb. 16, last, in which you are pleased to invite the members of this government, and especially all military men, at present surviving, who took part in the war of 1846-48, to attend a reunion of veterans of that war to be held in the grounds of the exposition of St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 16, of the current year.

Complying with the desires expressed in said letter, I cause it to be published in journals of this capital in order that it may come to the knowledge of persons who may desire to accept the courteous invitation which it contains. Your obedient servant, "Porfirio Diaz."

Galesburg, Ill., June 15.—From present indications the Illinois Baptist assembly which will be held in Galesburg from July 29 to Aug. 7, under the auspices of the Baptist Young People's union of Illinois, will be a notable gathering.

The chief workers in the movement are President J. Y. Ford, of Jerseyville, and Superintendent James H. Shaw, of Bloomington.

The assembly will be held in Highland park and recently in company with Mayor Shumway, the two officers made an inspection of the grounds and a consultation was held with the McKinley syndicate people in regard to the pavilion which will be erected. The association prefers a wooden structure which will seat in the neighborhood of 3,000 and the estimated cost of which will be about $5,000. The McKinley syndicate is to build the pavilion. The citizens of Galesburg have subscribed 1,500 tickets for the season, which will be distributed to Galesburg people at $1.50 for the entire season.

The "big guns" on the program are all arranged for. The opening day, Mrs. John A. Logan will be the chief attraction. One-half of the net proceeds from this lecture will go to the free kindergarten association. In addition to that invitations will be sent out to all G. A. R. posts in Knox and surrounding counties to be present in a body and bring their drum and life corps.

The Rev. A. W. Lampe, of Nashville, Tenn., a former officer in the confederate army, will be one of the interesting speakers. He will be heard in two lectures, "Dixie Before the War," and "Dixie After the War."

The Rev. Dr. R. S. McArthur, of New York city, who has been for thirty-four years the pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, is down on the program for two lectures, "The Great Bear of North Russia," and "The Heroic Period of American History."

On the second Sunday, the Rev. W. A. Sunday, the reformed base ball player and evangelist of national reputation, will preach twice.

Lieut. Hobson, the hero of '98, is slated for Aug. 6.

The Kaffir Boy choir, comprising natives of South Africa, will be one of the musical attractions.

The Glee Club singers will furnish music daily during the first half, and the Ladies Concert company the remainder of the session.

Among the other well known attractions are Miss Katherine S. Tisler, who was with Miss Stone during the exciting experiences in captivity of the brigands; Florence Ben O'Leary, a converted Jewess, who will give oriental lectures; Chas. T. Ritchie, the magician and others.

IF YOU HAVE DYSPEPSIA READ THIS.

The old way of taking pepsin, bismuth, etc., to cure dyspepsia is all wrong. They may be put up in tablets or in liquids, the result is just the same. The object is to create artificial digestion, but this does not make a cure. Stop taking the pepsin, etc., and have your dyspepsia or indigestion back again. People use cocaine or opium for nervous troubles and sick headache, it does not cure. Stop taking the drug and the pain and distress return. The only Common Sense Method is to drive out of the system the cause of dyspepsia and sick headache by cleaning the stomach and bowels and at the same time using a medicine that will act upon the liver. This forces through the glands of the stomach the digestive fluid that nature intended. In this way you cure dyspepsia. The medicine that cures dyspepsia by this method is called Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills. Druggists sell these pills at 25c a box. It only takes one pill for a dose. For sale by Leo P. Alcott.

Korea the Pathway of Nations.

Nothing encourages the study of geography like war. It was in 1871 that Americans began to look up Korea on the map, for at that time we were at war with her. But there was only one battle, and in that battle only one man was killed—on our side. So the geographies were soon put back on the shelf. In 1894 Korea again came to the front, but the Chinese did so precipitately before the Japanese that before the geographies were fairly open the tide of war swept across the Yalu and left Korea again the Land of the Morning Calm. And now again in this year of grace she is made, though much against her will, the chessboard for another game. In 1923 she was swept from north to south by the Mongols in their effort to get at the Japanese. In 1902 she was swept from south to north by the Japanese in their effort to get at the Chinese. She has been verily the pathway of nations, trodden of every foot—Homer B. Hulbert in Century.

A sheep eats seven hundred weight of grass in a year, a cow sixty hundred weight.

All the big farming that ever was done is not confined to the United States of America, for, according to Prof. Landman, in Vanth's Companion, an Italian's farm near ancient Rome, "were burned on April 25th, seventy children, of whom thirty were of the male sex. The same day fifty thousand head of wheat (about one hundred thousand gallons) were moved from the threshing floor to the granaries; five hundred young oxen were broken."

Zoa Flora is sure enough "The Woman's Friend." This is no bald, gratuitous statement. It is justified by facts. It is supported by letters of gratitude and joy and praise from every community in the land. Every mail brings these letters and tens of thousands of them are in our possession.

"Zoa Flora cures leucorrhea, suppressed and painful periods, flooding, miscarriages, piles, all irregularities, liver, kidney and bladder troubles and regulates the change of life. It makes childbearing easy and takes away the dread of that fearful ordeal. It is the greatest blessing of the age for weak and suffering women and has made thousands happy who were dragged out their lives in misery and pain."

Mrs. Effie Bates, Muncie, Ind., R. F. D. No. 1, says: "When a girl I died every month when I came around, even my hands seemed to swell, and I seemed almost blind at times and I was irregular. I would feel as though I would go backwards and didn't feel safe by myself at my monthly periods. I used some few bottles of Zoa Flora and that brought me regular and so that I didn't suffer scarcely any and the queer feelings left me."

FIRST SESSION

Court House Summer School of Philosophy Discusses Democratic Convention.

The first session of the court house Summer School of Philosophy was held in the portico Wednesday afternoon, and there was a large attendance of members. The program committee had arranged for a discussion of the comparative merits of the armies of Xerxes and Kuropatkin, but as the recent Democratic convention seemed to be uppermost in the minds of a number of those present it was decided to discuss the significance of the convention and postpone the discussion on the former subject until a later date.

The discussion was a lively one and the change in program nearly put several of the members hors de combat. Primus was of the opinion that the proceedings of the convention were indicative of the times. Now-a-days might and not right is the throne before which all must bow. The declaration of independence is no longer regarded as applicable to present day conditions while the Magna Charta heretofore regarded as the palladium of our liberties has been lost sight of. Taxation without representation is a forgotten principle and bossism in civil, political and even spiritual affairs has reached a stage of development never before known.

The action of the dominant element in the recent convention was no surprise to him. It was the expected that happened and not the unexpected. Secundus thought Primus voiced the sentiments of a pessimist. He regarded the action of the dominant element in the convention as without precedent, but he could see no cause for alarm. After all the verdict is with the people and until they fully assume the responsibilities and duties that under the constitution it was intended they should assume, such high handed methods as those practiced at Springfield will soon become the rule and not the exception. He could see no cause for alarm. At present the people are simply sleeping on their rights.

Tertius begged to differ with the last speaker. He thought that the recent convention sounded an alarm that if not heeded would soon end in the disruption of political parties and reach the very basic principles upon which the government was founded. Such a spectacle was never before witnessed. The dictum of the chairman was made the law of the convention. Free speech was prohibited and the rule of the gavel was inaugurated while the delegate was reduced to the position of a feudal vassal. It was time to call a halt. Reason must reassert itself and men must exhibit a spirit of fairness ere our institutions are imperiled.

Quartus did not take such a serious view of the situation. He regarded the proceedings of the convention as indicative of a lost cause. It was the will of a party whose internal dissensions had dismembered its organization and so divided its members that each member had to take an inventory of himself before he knew where he stood. Democracy had been joined to populism in 1896 and since that time disintegration had been going on faster than even the members of the party themselves had realized. They were confronted at Springfield with the problem of being absolutely without an issue and with factionalism so rampant over the control of the party machinery that the first and foremost duty of any state convention, that of placing in nomination a state ticket, was relegated to the rear and the ambition of a non-resident made the primal matter to be considered by the delegates. Such tactics lead to but one conclusion and the outcome of the convention was but the logical sequel of pre-convention events.

Quintus thought that the climax had been reached. He had been expecting just such a convention. Whenever it is attempted to put political performance and honors on the bargain counter and sell them to the highest and best bidder for cash then you may expect the enactment of just such scenes as were witnessed at the Springfield convention. When principle is not the dominant factor that determines nominations and nominees victory when won is dearly purchased and is always short lived.

The shades of evening prevented a further discussion of this interesting subject and the school adjourned with the perplexing problem still unworked.

FOR THE CHILDREN

The Enchanted Water.
Here is a curious trick:
Take a dinner plate and pour water in it pretty close up to the brim. Then take a small empty bottle and say to your friends:

"Look at this bottle and note that it has a perfectly solid bottom. Now, will you believe that I am wizard enough to pour water through this solid bottom?"

"Of course," everybody will sarcastically answer, "oh, yes, of course."
But you will soon make them believe in it dead earnest or else be quite mystified.

This is the way for you to do the trick:
Take a long stick and put one end into the bottle and by means of it hold the bottle close to a flame until it is very hot. Then seize it with a cloth and stick it at once, mouth downward, into the dinner plate that is full of water.

Now, a teaspoonful at a time, not too rapidly, pour water over the bottom of the bottle.
Now, the queer thing is that the bottle actually will begin to fill up with water, and so far as your friends can see you have succeeded in pouring water in through the bottom.

What is the explanation? Why, this: That as the bottle cools off the air within it contracts and causes the water in the plate to rise.

Why He Sawed Wood.
The bishop of Pennsylvania was formerly a frontier or missionary bishop in Nevada. While in the west he had a loyal friend in a man noted for his big heart and his wonderful combination of profane words. He was the possessor of a good carriage and a pair of fast horses and was always ready to stop swearing for half a day or long enough to take the bishop, whom he greatly admired as a man, out on worthy errands.

One day the bishop had accepted the use of the team to go in search of funds to build a small chapel. Passing a rough slanty at a smart pace, they saw a man before it sawing wood. The day was hot and the man bare-headed.

"Stop a moment," said the bishop. The team was halted. "My good man," said the bishop, addressing the sawyer "put on your hat. The sun will take your brain."

The man looked up in surprise, and then a look of disgust came over his face.

"D'you s'pose," said he, "that 'I' had any brains 'I'd be sawing wood in this land of silver?"—Harper's Round Table.

When the Freaks Went to Church.

Queer indeed was the congregation that listened to a sermon in Madison Square Garden, New York, on a recent Sunday, says an exchange. The midgets, the giant, the bearded lady, the missing link, the dog faced boy, the sword swallower and many of the circus folk who can earn their living not because they are freaks, but because they are very nearly perfect physically, attended services conducted by the Rev. W. A. Sheak, who on week days is the lecturer on the various wild animals. It was a good sermon, too, and at the end of it Mr. Sheak prayed for the safety of the company on its long journeyings, its preservation from railroad disasters and accidents in the ring. Before pronouncing the benediction he said that he did not see why circus people should not be just as good Christians as anybody else.

When he came down from the platform several of the circus people crowded about him, just as other people do in church when they are pleased with their minister, shook his hand, thanked him and said they wished to be considered as members of his congregation.

A French Game.
A game adapted from the French that is very popular among the little people of America is a good test for the memory.

The children must sit in a circle, and one, as leader, announces in this fashion: "I pack my trunk, and in it I put"—mentioning some article used in traveling, as gloves, brush or cologne. The next child begins then, saying what the leader has said and adding another article, and so on around the circle, each child repeating all the articles mentioned by the leader in their correct order and then adding one more to the list, which after awhile assumes lengthy proportions. If one boy or girl forgets one article or puts it in the wrong order, he or she must drop out of the game, and the last child remaining has the privilege of starting a new game.

Plea For the Old Sheep.

Small Harry was saying his prayers at his mother's knee, and she was helping him out with a few suggestions. "Bless and take care of the little lambs of the flock," she said. Now, Harry knew that he was included among the lambs, and he reasoned that his parents should not be forgotten. "Bless and take care of the little lambs of the flock," he repeated; then added, "And, Lord, I guess you had better keep an eye on the old sheep too."

Something Unusual.

Little Bessie was so accustomed to seeing the baby crawl around the room on his hands and knees that she thought it was his natural mode of traveling. One day he succeeded in standing up with the aid of a chair, and Bessie, very much astonished, ran to her mother and exclaimed, "Oh, mamma, come quick! Baby is standing up on his hind legs!"

FAIRBANK AND HIT

Brief Biographical Sketches of Two Prominent Candidates for Republican Vice Presidential Nomination.

Robert Roberts-Hitt, the choice of Illinois Republicans for the vice presidential nomination, was born near Urbana, Ohio, Jan. 16, 1834. At the age of three his parents removed to Ogle county, Illinois. He was educated at Rock River seminary and De Pauw university. While still very young he exhibited a budding passion for politics and the genuineness of the vocation has been demonstrated by half a century of political successes. In 1858 he reported the debates of Lincoln and Douglas, those famous exchangers of political wit and wisdom which were moulding the faith of the coming generations of statesmen. In 1874, during Grant's second administration, he was appointed secretary of legation at Paris, acting for a time as charge d'affaires. He became assistant secretary of state in 1881. The next year he was elected representative to the Forty-seventh congress. He was returned to Washington at every successive election up till 1893. He was chairman of the committee on foreign affairs in the Fifty-first congress. He has been a great stickler for the improvement of the diplomatic and consular services. He has opposed anti-Chinese legislation which violated treaties and has advocated reciprocity with other republics.

Charles Warren Fairbanks, United States senator from Indiana, has been persistently mentioned in connection with the vice presidential nomination. Born near Unionville Center, Ohio, May 11, 1852, Senator Fairbanks was graduated from the Wesleyan university at Delaware with distinction. He was Associated Press agent at Cleveland for a year, during which he began the study of law and was admitted to the bar. In 1874 he removed to Indianapolis. There he continued the practice of law and rose speedily to prominence. In 1893 he was Republican caucus nominee for United States senator, but was defeated by David Turpie. In 1893 he was Republican caucus and was re-elected in 1903, his present term expiring in 1909.

THE MATRIMONIAL RECORD.

JEWELL-CLARKE.

Married at 6 o'clock last evening, June 15, at the residence of Mrs. A. Jannette Clarke, 1022 West Lafayette avenue, by Dr. W. F. Short, Mr. Arthur Jewell and Miss Alice C. Clarke, in the presence of a few relatives and friends.

Both are widely and favorably known in Jacksonville by reason of their long and prominent connection with the school for the blind. Mr. Jewell was born in Scales Mound, Jo Davies county, Ill., and entered the institution for the blind in 1878.

Graduated in the class of 1886. After five years absence he returned to the institution in 1892, where he has been employed until the present time. For several years he has been wholly employed as stereotype printer.

Besides a very large amount of printing of literary matter for use in the school he has printed the music that the teachers and pupils require in their daily work. In addition to that many of the largest schools for the blind in our country and many private teachers and scholars all over the land have been furnished large supplies of music from his machine and press.

The Illinois institution now has about 1500 plates of the very best music that was ever written, made by Mr. Jewell, and carefully kept in a fire-proof vault. He is an expert in that kind of work, and has no equal anywhere.

Mrs. Jewell is a graduate of the Perkins institute, Boston, Mass., in the class of 1881. She began teaching music in the Illinois school in 1892, and has continued to the present time with great acceptability and success. Such have been the prudent and careful habits of these young people that they are well equipped every way for a successful career in life. The fervent best wishes of their friends will ever attend them through the journey of their lives.

ROBINSON-MINTON.

Wilbur B. Robinson, of this city, and Miss Mary Minton, of Greenville, will be married at the home of the latter in Greenville this morning. The wedding will be a very quiet one, only relatives of the immediate families being present.

The bride is the daughter of Rev. W. B. Minton, of Greenville, who is pastor of the Presbyterian church at that place. She is a young lady very highly regarded and very popular among her many acquaintances.

The groom is a son of Mrs. Katherine Robinson, of Greenville, and during the past year has been employed as clerk at the C. P. & St. L. offices in this city. Before coming here he was employed in the railroad offices of the Vandalia line with headquarters at East St. Louis and resigned his position with that road to take up his work here.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson will arrive here to day and will begin housekeeping at once at the residence of Mrs. Lottie Greenleaf at 219 West College street, which home has already been furnished and made ready for occupancy.

Mrs. Robinson, the mother of the groom, will come to Jacksonville later in the summer to make her home and will reside with her son.

SALISBURY-HOLLE.

The wedding of Miss Carrie Holle and Willis Salisbury was celebrated Wednesday evening at the home of the bride on Wolcott street. Only the most intimate friends and relatives of the bride and groom were present. The Holle home was tastefully decorated with cut flowers and palms. The couple entered the parlor to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Miss Mollie Graubner. Rev. H. Hallberg performed the beautiful ring service.

The best man was Henry Holle, brother of the bride.

Miss Holle is the daughter of Henry Holle and is a charming young lady, having a large circle of friends. The groom holds a position as railroad checker on the C. B. & Q. railroad at Chicago, where he is known as an upright and industrious young man. During his brief stay in the city he has made many friends.

After a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Salisbury will be at home in Hinsdale.

BAND AND ORC

A Double Entertainment at Conservatory Hall to Night.

To night the Jeffries band assisted by an orchestra of twenty-five players—members of the band, assisted by the Misses Brown and Dunlap, violin, Mrs. Jeffries piano, and Mr. Paul George, formerly cellist of the Metropolitan opera house orchestra, New the season.

Miss Emma Bella Wharton, the first soprano soloist of the season, has one song with the orchestra. One of the most promising of our younger musicians, Miss Hazel Mae Brown, who is also director of the high school orchestra, has a double violin number.

Following the orchestral half of the program the full band will open the second part with a most brilliant overture and will then accompany the piccolo soloist of the band, Master Buford M. Hayden, in a tasty solo. Two other numbers will then bring to a close one of the best concerts of the season and every subscriber should be there to night.

Tapstry rugs, body Brussels, Axminster, room sizes at Caffy's Upholstering establishment.

IN HONOR OF MISS DE LEUW. Miss Anna Duer very pleasantly entertained a limited company of friends Wednesday afternoon in honor of Miss Johanna De Leuw. It was a sewing and the hours of the afternoon were spent in a most delightful manner. Delicate refreshments were served and the company was one of the most enjoyable of a number of functions that have been given in Miss De Leuw's honor, who will become the bride of Mr. William Caldwell, of Pennsylvania, next Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

ASSEMBLY HALL. Although Structure Not Yet Completed First Meeting Was Held Wednesday Night.

The Carpenters' and the Teamsters' unions had the honor of being the first to hold a meeting in the new labor hall. As yet the building is incomplete in many details, but the two upstairs rooms are ready for occupation. During the past four months the Trades and Labor assembly have held their meetings over the Trade Palace.

The new hall is a large modern structure, twenty feet wide and sixty feet long, complete in every detail. In front on the ground floor will be an office for the transaction of any business of the unions. Back of this will be a recreation room where the members may read the daily papers and play games during their leisure hours. At present the assembly is unable to furnish the popular periodicals but these will be installed as soon as possible. On the second floor are two medium sized lodge rooms for the use of the separate unions. The entire third floor is arranged for the meetings of the assembly and the larger unions. All the rooms are equipped with gas and electric light fixtures. The floors throughout are of hard wood. The hall is heated by steam and on the third floor is a lavatory. The walls in all the rooms are tinted in appropriate colors. At present the basement will not be used but it is the plan of the assembly to install baths and other conveniences as soon as possible. The basement and all the rooms are connected with speaking tubes. Several firms of this city have aided the unions by gifts of supplies. All the work of construction and erection has been done by the members of the local unions who have given liberally of their time and money for the successful completion of the work.

PAYNE ILL. Chicago, June 15.—Postmaster General Payne, chairman of the national committee, collapsed, apparently with neurasthenic ailment, at the Auditorium to day. Payne has not been in good health or some time.

It is said Payne's illness was such as to preclude the possibility of his taking an active part in the preliminary work of the convention. Senator Scott, of West Virginia, will probably succeed as executive head of the committee.

WOMAN LYNCHED. Lebanon Junction, Ky., June 15.—A mob this morning lynched a colored woman named Thompson who had cut the throat of a white man named John Irwin. After she was cut down by those residing in the vicinity she showed signs of life. It is thought she may recover.

IN HONOR OF AMERICANS. Lisbon, June 15.—There was an athletic tournament in the royal grounds yesterday in honor of the American fleet. King Charles attended and won a tennis match. He shot at pigeons and did remarkably shooting with a pistol. Four men from the flagship Keersarae and the Alabama had boxing contests at the king's request.

The Truth About Coffee

An interesting explanation of the five essential steps necessary to produce that rich aroma and flavor so delicious in good coffee, without any of the harmful effects.

SELECTION OF BERRY.

It is not generally known by the average coffee consumer that there are new possessions of ours can produce coffee which cannot be excelled by Arabian, Brazilian or Java growths. Owing, however, to the different nature of the rich soil, the coffee grown on these islands possesses a peculiarly palatable flavor, not to be found in coffee berries grown elsewhere. It will be noted by the purchaser of a package of Dudley Coffee that the berry is of an unusual shape. The utmost care is used by our buyers in selecting coffee berries to maintain a uniform quality.

MIXING AND CURING.

After the coffee berry is selected and blended while still green in the correct proportions to produce that delicious flavor and aroma which have made Dudley's Coffee famous. This blending is a delicate process, for no two lots can be blended in like proportions to produce the same results. After this blending they are dried and cured by our special process, which inures the consumer against harmful effects which follow excessive use of the average brand of coffee.

BLENDING AND ROASTING.

When the berry is properly aged and cured it is ready for roasting. We have perfected a process of roasting which produces a remarkable result and our coffee has been blended in the finest way. The flavor perfectly during this process. There is a large difference between "Mild" coffee and "Blended" coffee. If you can mix coffee, but blending coffee is an art and a life-long study. The Blending of Dudley's Coffee has a national reputation. In fact, he has received his fourth appointment as Inspector of coffee for the United States Government. "It's all in the blend."

CLEANING.

After roasting, our coffee are thoroughly freed from all dust and impurities by special machinery and are then subjected to a process no other coffee ever were.

Dudley coffee is picked over by hand and every berry that is the least off color or shape is thrown out.

This is one of the secrets of the health-giving properties of our coffee, for it is these bad berries that produce the bad effects of drinking some coffees.

PACKING.

All Dudley Coffee in the various kinds are put up in one-pound packages, either in cans, cartons or parchment-lined bags. Each of these packages is hermetically sealed. Coffee put up in this way will retain its flavor and aroma indefinitely. In order to still further insure the retention of the delightful flavor and aroma which we work so hard to obtain, we refrain from grinding and put up all Dudley's Coffee unground.

RESULTS.

Richest aroma and flavor.

Absolute uniformity in quality.

Rich coffee color in cup

Freedom from harmful effects.

Yet without cost no more than inferior brands.

DUDLEY'S FAMOUS COFFEES

Put up in 1-lb. Cans, Cartons or Parchment-Lined Bags with the Dudley name on each. As they cost you no more than ordinary Coffees, why not try them? It will be a revelation. You have never really known how delicious Coffee can be till you have tried Dudley's. We vouch for this. For Sale by Most Grocers

Alaska a Garden.

Professor Trevor Kincaid of the University of Washington, an alert western scientist, has been making a study of the valleys and mountain slopes of the Aleutian Islands. He first became interested in Alaska at the time of the Harriman expedition. As a result of this voyage of scientific discovery he amazed the entomological world by the bewildering collection of insects he brought out of Alaska, thousands of them being species that depend for existence on the nectar of blossoms. It was a revelation not only of the presence of unnumbered flower hunting hymenoptera, coleoptera and lepidoptera in Alaska, but incidentally it called the attention of scientific men to the fact that Alaska, instead of being a wilderness of perpetual ice, is a vast wild garden. Extending his investigations in subsequent trips to the Aleutian chain, Professor Kincaid has made the discovery that in the valleys and slopes of those islands a number of kinds of succulent forage grasses grow in luxurious abundance. "I am convinced," said he, "that our beef cattle will ultimately come from this interesting archipelago."—Booklovers' Magazine.

Grass Houses.

The finest house ever designed by a redskin is the grass house of the Wichitas, a tribe that at present live in southern Oklahoma. They are the only tribe that ever accomplished successfully the erection of a grass structure. Soon they are to abandon these huts and take up their nomadic reservation life in two room frame shacks which are being built for them by the government. The grass house, it is claimed, is far from being healthful, but it is certainly comfortable, says the Scientific American.

There are only about fifty old men of the tribe alive today who understand the art of building one of these houses so that it will stand, and these refuse to work, even for generous wages. The government has offered these grass house builders lucrative employment to construct some houses that may be preserved as models of an ancient art. But they refuse, and the grass huts that used to dot the prairies of the Wichita reservation are now being torn down. The Wichitas are determined that their huts shall not survive them.

Fall of Snakes.

The Snake spring, which is about 170 feet above Deep fork, twenty miles southeast of Stroud, was rightly named. Hundreds of poisonous moccasins and other water snakes make the large pool close to the copious flowing spring their resort from April until November. Superstitious Indians are mortally afraid of the place, as their heathen religion doesn't permit them to decrease the snake family. Wolves and wildcats make their homes in the crevices of the rocks and canyons adjacent to the spring. The wildly romantic locality was the headquarters of the Sioshins and other outlaws during the seventies. The geographical features of the elevated and rugged hills around the spring are different from other localities in the Creek Nation. The rocks are a sort of flint, of a hard, conglomerate nature. The brownish colored mineral water that runs out of the bank of Deep fork is said to possess great medicinal properties.—Kansas City Journal.

SURE CURE FOR PILES.

Itching piles produce moisture and cause itching, this form as well as Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles are cured by Dr. Bo-san-ko's Pile Remedy. Stops itching and bleeding, absorbs tumors. 50c a jar at drug stores or sent by mail. Treatise free. Write me about your case. Dr. Bo-san-ko, Philadelphia, Pa. For sale by Lee P. Alcott.

Summer Silks.

Generally speaking, dark blue, black and brown are the favorite colors for summer silks. There is a new shade of brown called the "pauhin eagle" which is very rich and soft. The old fashioned pin check is the very smartest design in silks this season. This check is preferably in white on a blue, brown or black ground. In the two toned silks brown and yellow and blue and green are the leaders. Embroidered white dots are often introduced into these silks.

A Smart French Frock. A smart French frock made of silk is here sketched in blue green outline, which is one of the new soft, clinging fabrics of the season. The skirt is in three tiered effect and the bodice a stunning evolution of the bolero. The sleeve emplacements give this bodice a smart new appearance, and the flounce of lace starting just under the sleeve seam is decidedly novel. Lace trims the deep cuffs and emplacements, also the entire high collar. The hat is an amazon shape of black rice straw, depending for its chic on two handsome blue green plumes.

Shirt Waists.

Have your shirt waists made with sleeves that are of sensible proportions, finished with a neat cuff and the entire garment constructed on the neat, sensible lines that brought this very useful bit of feminine apparel to a state of perfection several years ago.

John D. Rockefeller began his business career by learning to milk a cow.

Jacksonville, Ill., Aug. 24, 1901.—For twelve years I have suffered from sweet diabetes and have spent hundreds of dollars with various doctors, with little benefit. I was recommended to try a bottle of Texas Wonder, Hall's Great Discovery, and all cheerfully testify to the results. I feel more good than all things else put together and am altogether another man. I have persuaded many of my friends to try it. JOHN R. DAVEY, Greer. J. A. OBERMEYER, City Drug Store.

Engineers are alarmed at the inroads that crawfish and muskrats are making in the levees along the Mississippi river. The crawfish burrow into the levees, and the muskrats follow to catch and eat them. Then the muskrats burrow right through the bank, and make so many holes of this kind that in time of flood a break is likely to occur.

Last year the liners carried to New York in the steerage 613,358 passengers.

When the first victory of the Japanese was announced in Osaka, Otojro Kawakami, the famous Japanese actor, joined in a torchlight procession. During it a skillful pickpocket robbed him of a watch presented to him by the czar when he played in Russia's capital, says the Chicago Journal. In the case was engraved an image of the czar. Two days later a parcel and letter were left at the actor's hotel. In the parcel was the watch. The letter said the writer was a thief, but he wouldn't have anything Russian, no matter how valuable.

"A doctor has sued me for $125.00, which I claimed was excessive for a case of cholera morbus," says R. White, of Chocoma, Cal. "At the trial he praised his medical skill and medicine. I asked him if it was not Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy he used, as I had good reason to believe it was, and he would not say under oath that it was not." No doctor could use a better remedy than this in a case of cholera morbus, it never fails. Sold by all leading druggists.

The farmer who has a good garden has healthy family as a rule. At a farmers' institute a few years ago an aged physician was asked to make a few remarks. The first thing he said was: "I noticed at my life that I never got much money out of the family which was fed on plenty of fruits and vegetables."

80 PER CENT OF THE ADULT POPULATION SUFFER FROM ONE PAINFUL AILMENT.

Think what this means. 7 Imagine the amount of misery that exists and is endured simply because people do not know there is an absolute cure.

The only way to cure any complaint is to remove the cause. There are very few diseases or ailments that can be cured by external application—and piles is not one of them. Piles can be cured; the treatment must, however, be internal, for the cause of piles is an internal disorder of the liver or the bowels. Even catarrh of the stomach and bowels can be cured by Dr. PERRIN'S PILE SPECIFIC, The Internal Remedy. Here is an instance of what this practically infallible remedy will do:

Dr. C. A. Perrin, Helena, Mont.—Dear Sir: I have nearly finished the former bottle of Perrin's Pile Specific and am practically well. My case was one which most physicians would have pronounced incurable, as I was afflicted with a dysentery and compelled to go to the toilet room from three to five times each day and each time would bleed from one-half to one teaspoonful. I had to resort to bandages and absorbent cotton to check the flow of blood, and now the past ten or twelve days there has been no sign of bleeding and my appetite is good; have gained ten pounds in weight and feel like a new lease of life was given me.

Very truly yours, T. R. HARRIS, Yerington, Nev.

Dr. Perrin's Pile Specific is sold by all reliable druggists at $1.00 the bottle, under an absolute guarantee to refund the money should this great internal remedy fail to cure. DR. PERRIN MEDICAL CO., HELENA, MONT.

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, June 15.—Wheat—Weak cables caused a lower opening, July being down 1/2¢, at 1.84 1/2¢. The first half of the session the sentiment was bearish. During the early hours trading was of small volume. On account of heavy rains in the southwest, which interfere with harvesting operations, there was a lack of selling pressure, offerings being about commensurate with the light demand. Shorts were best buyers in the day's trading. The session advanced the market became firmer on bullish crop reports from Montana and small primary receipts in the southwest. Good export demand was the chief feature in aiding strength. The close was firm, July up 1/2¢, at 1.85 1/2¢; September 1/2¢ higher, at 1.80 1/2¢. At the southeast forty-six boat loads were accepted. Corn—General commission house demand with only moderate offerings, caused firmness. Excessive rains in sections of the corn belt and small local primary receipts were the main influences on buyers. The close showed gains of 1/4¢, at 1.09 1/2¢. Liverpool steady to 1/2¢ lower. On the coast nine boat loads were taken. Oats—Days were steady, trade being almost entirely in September. Firmness in corn was the chief supporting factor. Small local receipts were the minor bull factor. The close showed gains of 1/4¢, at 1.21 1/2¢.

FINANCIAL MARKET.
New York, June 15.—Heavy demand for Union Pacific which developed yesterday before the market closed was conspicuously in evidence again this morning and was supplemented by sympathetic strength in Southern Pacific. Movement of these stocks dominated the whole market and news developments regarding them were taken to explain the recent movement of the market in general, and that some realizing in the general list followed the day's news. With publication of a reported plan for issue of $100,000,000 preferred stock Southern Pacific promptly ran off sharply under orders of very heavy blocks of stock. Its weakness and intermittent strength of Union Pacific kept the market unsettled and confused for the rest of the day. There was a large shrinkage in volume of dealings as another consequence. Closing quotations:

Money on call easy; highest, 1 1/4 per cent; lowest, 1 per cent; last loan and offered at 1 1/4 per cent; closing bid, 1 1/4. Time loans easy and dull; sixty and ninety days at 2 1/2; six months at 3 3/4 per cent.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Odd Places In Which Birds Lay Their Eggs.

The only place where birds won't lay eggs is in the water. They lay them in trees, on the ground, on the sides of cliffs, in holes dug in the sand, on top of bunches of swaying grasses, in chimneys and amid ice and snow, and some of them, like the mergansers and divers, get pretty near to laying eggs in the water, for they lay them on little floating islets of driftwood and floating stuff in swamps.

Wild ducks lay their eggs among the reeds in ground so low and damp that floods often destroy thousands of them. Gulls lay eggs on rocks and sand without attempting to cover them. The ostrich and other desert dwelling birds make a shallow burrow in the hot sand. The northern divers and penguins sit on their eggs almost on top of snowdrifts or ice fields.

Many of the song sparrows lay their eggs in nests that hang precariously to the very tops of slender grasses. The English sparrow will utilize anything. There is a record of a sparrow having laid eggs in a nook just under the top of a wagon, and thereafter, as the wagon was driven around on business, the impudent bird sat in it calmly and hatched out its young.

The owl will lay its eggs even while the snow is coming down sometimes, and young owls have been found with snow all heaped around the entrance to their home.

Many varieties of birds are so careless about their eggs that a big proportion of them is lost each year through rolling out of the insecure nests. Other birds are just the reverse and will fight snakes, bear and man to the bitter end to prevent injury.

His First Suspenders.

George is four years old and has just arrived at the dignity of his first knickerbockers—with suspenders, just like pap wears. They were the pride of his heart, and at night he would take them off his trousers and clasp them tight in his arms when he went to bed. His mother found them there the other night, and as they seemed to be making the little chap uncomfortable she took them away and laid them on a chair by his bed.

The next morning he had a long interview with his mother.

"Didn't you tell me, mamma," he said, "that angels watched everything I did?"

"Yes, Georgie."

"Are they watching me when I sleep?"

"Yes, my son; they watch over you always, whatever you are doing."

"Do they come right in my room at night?"

"Yes, dear; the good angels are everywhere, always."

"Then," said Georgie meditatively, "I bet they've been monkeying with my suspenders."

An Orange Chinaman.

A lifelike Chinaman can be made from two oranges, one large and one small. Cut into the jacket of the little orange, carefully removing part of the peel so as to form the eyes and mouth, as shown in the picture. Make the eyes small, the nose flat and broad and the mouth large. Then cut flaps out of the sides and turn them outward. These are the ears, which should be very large. Now you get a chance to get part of the large orange, as you are to clean all the fruit from one half and turn the peel up neatly all around. This makes the hat with its brim. Stand the other half on its flat side, its curved top forming the Chinaman's chest and shoulders. You can further dress him by paring off a piece around the hat brim, which will do for a yellow scarf. His eyebrows are formed by two sharp cuts over the eyes, and he is completed by a pigtail made of a strand of twine, which can be fastened to the back of the Chinaman's head.

NEW SHORT STORIES

The Story of a Grudge.

While Governor Odell was in the house of representatives not long ago he was joined by Representative Acheson of Pennsylvania. They drifted into reminiscences.

"Do you still hold a grudge against me on account of that bull game?" said Acheson.

"I should say so," replied the governor. "I have never forgiven anybody concerned in that. It was the most humiliating defeat in which I was ever one of the defeated."

"How did it happen?" asked Representative Sherman.

"It was in 1874," said the governor. "I was a student at Bethany college, West Virginia. Champ Clark was a student there at the same time. Acheson here was a student at Washington and Jefferson college, Washington, Pa. I was second baseman on our ball team, and Acheson was center field on his."

"Both teams had wiped up the earth with all opponents, and at last we thought we would challenge Washington and Jefferson and do them up. We did, and that was when I first met Acheson. That pitcher was a fellow named Bowman, who is now on the Pittsburgh Times. Underhand pitching had just been invented, and we didn't know anything about it, but Bowman did."

"We were so bewildered that they walked all around us. Whereas we had never met defeat, in that game we didn't score once. The score, as I remember it now after the lapse of years, was 10,000 to nothing. It was the first and worst defeat I ever have mixed up in. So now you see why I have a grudge against Acheson."

Politician or Gambler.

"Not very long ago," said Chauncey M. Depew to a group of newspaper correspondents, "while traveling in an ordinary passenger coach on the way to an up state town I got on pretty good terms with the train boy. When he had finished his rounds he came back to me to 'chill a bit,' he said."

"Do you know," he said, "I can tell by looking at a man mighty near

"I ain't dead, sure."

What he is? Now, there's that fellow over there in the corner. He's a Chicago drummer. I can tell him by the way he lets his money go and the flip style he has when he talks to people. And that chap over there with the silk hat on is a preacher from a country town. I'm dead sure. I'll go ask him, if you say so."

"I didn't say so, because I didn't care a continental, but I asked him what he thought I was. He looked me over for a minute carefully as if he felt his reputation depended upon a correct answer."

"Well," he said at last, "you've got plenty of dough, but I ain't dead sure whether you're a politician or a gambler."

Gherardi's Little Hint.

An interesting fact in Rear Admiral Gherardi's life has to do with the founding of Robert college in Constantinople, says the Fall River (Mass.) News. One day when his ship was riding at anchor in the sea of Marmora he was dining by invitation with the grand vizier. At that time the trade for building Robert college was held back, to the great disappointment and loss of the friends of the enterprise.

Before the dinner service broke up Gherardi said to the pasha, "Will the trade for Robert college be issued soon?" "What?" exclaimed the vizier in affected astonishment. "Has it not been received?" "It had not when I left the embassy," said the captain in his most polite and polite way.

The next day it was received, and Robert college was soon something more than a dream. It does the government of the sublime porte good even in a while to see an American man-of-war.

Why His Name Was Familiar.

Governor Montague of Virginia had occasion recently to visit Kinsale, a small town in Westmoreland county. To reach Kinsale it was necessary for Governor Montague to ride several miles by stage. The driver of the stage was an old colored man, and the governor, entering into conversation with him, asked him his name.

"Mah name, sah," said the driver, "am George Washington."

"George Washington, eh?" repeated Governor Montague. "That is a very familiar name."

"It probably am, sah," said the driver. "Ah's been drivin' disher stage foh twenty-nine years."

THE DEATH RECORD.

CAPPS.

John T. Capps died at his home in Springfield Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock after an illness of about a year.

Mr. Capps will be remembered as the treasurer and manager of the Springfield Woolen Mills. He was a cousin of Messrs. S. H. Joseph and C. C. Capps, of this city. He is survived by his wife who is in an enfeebled condition, and by a son, Lee, of Springfield, and a daughter, Mrs. Olive Irwin, of Chicago.

Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been made.

ADAMS.

J. Arthur Adams passed away at his home on South Church street Wednesday morning at 4:30 o'clock, after an illness of several months. He had been in failing health for about a year, and in March last he went to California, hoping to derive benefit from the change, but as he failed to improve, he returned to this city six weeks ago to patiently await his end.

Mr. Adams was born in Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 20, 1875. While still a youth he removed to California, where he remained until four years ago, at which time he came to this city. He was employed here in different capacities and for the past year was employed as a cigar maker by the L. S. Kent-McCarthy Co. He was known as a fine workman, and always held the respect and confidence of his employers and fellow workmen. He was married August 15, 1901, to Eva Belle Stewart, who, with a little daughter, Lillian Truth, aged about one year, survives. He also leaves his father, A. J. Adams, of Terre Haute, and his mother, who resides in California.

Deceased was a member of the Cigar Makers' union and was a charter member of Jacksonville lodge No. 682, B. P. O. E.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Trinity church, in charge of Rev. J. F. John. Interment will be in Diamond Grove cemetery.

Those who wish to view the remains will please call at the residence, 218 South Church street, before 2:30 o'clock.

GINDER.

Funeral services over the remains of Dr. Herbert Ginder were held at the M. E. church at Arcadia Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock in the presence of a large gathering of sorrowing friends and relatives. Interment was in Arcadia cemetery.

SEVERE INJURY.

The ten-year-old son of James Dollar was severely injured on East North street Tuesday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock. It seems that several small boys had been jumping upon wagons used in hauling rock along the street and that Jimmie, while attempting to keep his hold on a wagon, was thrown into a wheel by the loosening of the piece of rock to which he was holding. He was turned about in the wheel before the wagon could be stopped, and suffered a fracture of the right leg, just below the knee. His left leg was also severely bruised, and he suffered other painful injuries.

Medical attendance was secured as soon after the injury as possible, and everything was done to make the little sufferer comfortable. His injuries are very severe, and it will be some time before he fully recovers.

San Francisco, June 15.—An operation was performed on Jim Jeffries' ailing knee and a quantity of fluid drawn off. The sentiment among sporting people is that the Jeffries-Munroe contest will be indefinitely postponed.

DEMOCRATS NAME TICKET.

The Democrats of the Thirtieth senatorial district, comprising the counties of Brown, Cass, Schuyler, Monard, Tazewell and Mason held their convention at Petersburg Tuesday and nominated G. W. Cunningham, of Pekin, for senator, and W. L. Manny, of Mt. Sterling, and J. J. Cook, of Beardstown, for representatives. All three are attorneys, Messrs. Cunningham and Manny being the prosecuting attorneys of their respective counties at the present time.

Light Weight Clothing For Comfort During the Coming Hot Days

We are ready to supply those men who like to make choice early, with the smartest looking Summer Suits—coats and trousers—ever seen hereabouts. We have a number of attractive styles in a big variety of tropical-weight fabrics, handsomely tailored and finished and well worth a third more than we ask. Among the assortment will be found the famous which is unmatched for style, quality, workmanship and fit. The severest test of good workmanship comes in the light-weight goods. Unless a suit is properly tailored, it will soon look bedraggled and shapeless. But that won't happen with a suit bought here—the tailor work is too skillfully executed for that to happen.

Stylish Outing Suits, made of wool-crashes, homespun, flannels and other light-weight fabrics in light and medium color effects; coats half lined or skeleton lined; trousers have belt loops and permanent turn-ups. Prices range from
